

We are James and Elvire, an English/French creative team based in Brussels currently looking for both freelance and permanent positions.. We love a good challenge so if you have a brief that needs cracking visit our new website and contact us... www.jamesandelvire.com

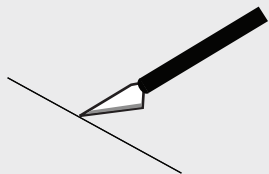

Why not take a little time to make your very own jamesandelvire and try it out in your office? It will sit nicely on a shelf next to your trendy graphic design books and inspire you during your next creative session. You might find you get used to having us around.

Step 1: Print this page on the thickest A3 paper your office printer can handle.

Step 2: Try not to cut your fingers when cutting along the dark grey outlines.

Step 3: Fold along the dotted lines and use prowess and double-sided tape or glue to make your new creative team.
